Notes

- The Mustangs dropped a 7-1 rain-shortened contest to the Range Riders on Wednesday night. The game started with a pitcher's duel between Mustangs starter Mitch Dye and Aidan Elfering of the Range Riders. Glacier scored a run in the second to open the scoring, but were otherwise held in check by Dye, who finished with six innings of one-run ball and 6 strikeouts while taking a no-decision. Elfering kept the Mustangs offense off the board for the first five innings before John McHenry tied the game at 1 with an RBI double in the sixth. Glacier managed to get to the Billings bullpen in the seventh. Carson Garner launched a grand slam to left field with two out in the inning to break the tie before the Range Riders added two more in the inning to take a 7-1 advantage. The Mustangs were unable to rally before rain and lightning forced a delay with two outs in the top of the ninth and the game was ultimately declared final.
- Last night marked the lowest run output from the Mustangs offense this season, scoring just once against Glacier pitching. The Range Riders have held the Mustangs to their two lowest scoring games, previously holding Billings to 2 runs in a 5-2 Glacier win on May 24th. The Mustangs had scored 20+ runs in back-to-back games going into last night's contest.
- Mitch Dye shined in his second professional start and first since June 24th. The right-hander, who had been working out of the bullpen for the last several weeks, allowed just one run over a career-high six innings while striking out six. Dye has enjoyed pitching at home this year, sporting a 2.93 ERA at Dehler Park.
- Cameron Bowen is one double short of Jack O'Dowd's modern single season franchise record (1969-present) of 28. O'Dowd set the mark last year in his lone season as a Mustang. Bowen is also on pace to challenge his own modern day single season franchise hits record that he set last year with 135. The shortstop has 118 hits this year with 22 games to play.
